GRAND GIFT CONCERT.

Postponed to December 7, 1872.

THE SECOND GRAND GIFT CONCERT IN AID of the Public Library of Kentucky, announced for September 26th, has been postponed to December 7, 1872, because the accumulation of orders the few days before the drawing made it physically impossible to fill them without a few days' delay, and as a short postponement was inevitable, it was determined to defer it to a time that would make a full drawing sure by the sale of all the tickets.
The money necessary to pay in full all the offered gifts is now upon deposit in the Farmers' and Drovers' Bank, as will be seen by the following certificate of the Cashier:
FARMERS' AND DROVERS' BANK, }
LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 26, 1872. }
This is to certify that there is now on deposit in this bank over half a million of dollars to the credit of the Gift Concert fund. $30,000 of which is held by this bank as Treasurer of the Public Library of Kentucky to pay off all gifts to be awarded at the drawing.
R. S. VEACH, Cashier.

1,000 Prizes, amounting to
will be awarded, the highest prize being $100,000 $50,000, $25,000, and down in regular gradation to $100, which is the lowest.
The drawing will positively and unequivocally take place December 7. Agents are peremptorily required to close sales and make returns November 25, in order to give ample time for the final arrangements. Orders for tickets or applications for Circulars should be addressed to

THE BEST, CHEAPEST,
AND
MOST DURABLE PAINTS
now in use are the Montour Slate Paints.
They cover one-third more surface, last longer and cost less than White Lead, the place of which they are very generally taking where economy, durability and neatness are desired.
Hear what our Practical Painters says:
It gives me great pleasure to recommend your Slate Paints--as supplying a need we have long felt, and overcoming a great difficulty, which has long been acknowledged by all practical Painters, namely the oxidation of White Lead, by the atmosphere, causing it to crumble or chalk off.
I am satisfied they will paint one-third more surface and in a better manner than any other pigment I have ever used. GEO. C. GOULD.

Green Fields Just in Sight.

At the portals of the morning
Stood a child with dainty feet,
All about him golden sunshine,
Pearly dew and blossom sweet;
And with tender, dimpled fingers,
Plucked he flowers fresh and fair,
And the overhanging branches
Showered the dew-drops in his hair.

Looking forward o'er life's pathway,
Saw he broader fields of green,
Skies with snowy clouds so fleecy,
Here and there blue shreds between;
And with swiftly flying footsteps,
Started he for fields more bright;
But in vain he hurried onward--
They were always just in sight.

Warmer, brighter, grew the sunshine,
Broader, rougher grew the way;
But with green fields just before him,
Nothing could his footsteps stay;
So he wandered on till manhood
Took the place of childhood fair,
Then he threw aside his flowers
Wiped the dew-drops from his hair.

Onward, onward, toiling, striving,
Helping others with his might,
Desired he that the blooming fields,
That are always just in sight
Lay within the cold dark river;
Here we only wish and wait
Till the Master calls us over,
And unbars the pearly gate.

SMOKE.

I was proceeding to Alma Mater, at the conclusion of one of the vacations, and had taken my place in the train which was to bear me thither. I was the sole occupant of the compartment, and the train was on the point of starting, when the door of the carriage was suddenly thrown open, and an old gentleman entered the compartment.--He was a sour-looking old fellow of about sixty years of age, evidently bent upon taking the utmost care of himself. He wore a long great-coat, which reached almost to his heels and over this was thrown a short wrapper; his throat was carefully swathed in the folds of a thick, red woolen comforter. He did not appear to me to be at all the sort of person with whom one could enter into a conversation at a moment's notice.

The train moved slowly out of the station, and the old gentleman began to make his arrangements for the journey. He proceeded to unlock and open a somewhat bulky, black traveling bag, extracted a seal skin cap, which he placed upon his head, drawing the flaps down over his ears and tying them under his chin. He next produced a large fur slipper, into which he inserted his ungainly feet. His bootmaker must have been a man of no ordinary genius for how he had contrived to induce the coverings of the old man's feet to accommodate themselves to the numerous knobs which overspread them in the most unusual places has ever remained a mystery to me.

Having done all that he could for those two extremities of his person, he dived a third time into the bag. "What next?" I thought, watching him with a great deal of curiosity. An air-cushion! This he inflated carefully and placed behind his shoulder-blades. I never could conceive why this was done, for the back of the carriage was excellently padded. He then drew on a pair of thick knitted gloves, spread a railway rug over his knees, and appeared to be made up for the journey.

I then proceeded to put my ideas of comfort in force. I drew out my cigar case, selected a weed, and had just struck a light, when I heard a slight movement proceeding from my companion. I looked up; his eyes were fixed intently upon me; he was closely observing my actions. This did not trouble me much, so I proceeded to light up, and in another moment was blowing a splendid cloud.

Presently I heard a cough--"Ahem!" I looked at my fellow-traveler.

"I object to smoking," he said.

"Well now," I thought, "this is cool, to say the least of it."

In order not to infringe the by-laws of the Company, I had been careful to select a carriage on the door of which was hung a board marked "Smoking Compartment." I suppose the old gentleman, in his hurry, had not observed this notice, which placed me in the right and him in the wrong. I did not like his appearance at all; he was a nasty, crusty old fellow, I could see, so I made up my mind not to enlighten him as to his mistake. I admit my conduct was rude, but I replied:

"I'm, some people do, I believe."

He had not waited for any response from me after having made his objection, but had returned to the perusal of his paper. Apparently he expected me to put out my cigar. This, however, I had not the slightest intention of doing.--About three minutes elapsed, and he then addressed me a second time:

"I think you cannot have heard me, sir; I informed you just now, that I had a great objection to smoking."

"O! I heard you distinctly enough, sir," I replied; "and it seems to me hardly necessary for you to repeat it."

There was a short pause, and then he renewed the attack.

"Do you mean to say, sir, that you are going to continue smoking, in defiance of what I have said? he asked.

"I shall not put this cigar out until it has become too hot for my lips to hold." I replied.

He appeared greatly astonished at my cool audacity.

"Very well, sir," he replied, "we shall see whether this company will allow its by-laws to be infringed and its passengers annoyed with impunity.--Unless you extinguish that cigar, I shall, the next time we stop, inform the guard of your conduct."

"As you please sir," I returned, and continued smoking. Shortly afterwards the train slackened its speed, and my fellow-passenger, who seated himself on that side of the carriage farthest from the down platform of the stations along the line, removed the railway rug from his knees, slipped his knobby foot out of the gouty looking slipper, and moved to the seat in the opposite corner, in order, I suppose, to hail some official for the purpose of requesting him to have me removed. The train had hardly come to a dead stop before down went the window, and out popped the seal-skin cap and its contents.

"Guard, guard!" I heard him exclaim.

But no guard replied to his summons.

Evidently fearing that the train would move off before he had accomplished his purpose with regard to me, he bawled out again at the top of his voice:

"Guard, guard, porter! why don't you come when I call?"

The last question was addressed to the approaching form of the first named individual. My companion, seeing that he was about to receive attention, drew his head into the carriage again, and resumed his seat. In another moment the head and shoulders of the guard showed themselves at the window. The old gentleman was on the point of speaking, when I forestalled him.

"Oh, guard," I said very quietly, "here's a gentleman who has an objection to smoking--mistake in the carriage, I supposed. Would you be so good as to find him a seat in another compartment?"

The guard smiled, and the old gentleman stared at me in amazement. He did not understand his mistake.

"What do you mean by this impertinence, sir?" he asked fiercely.--"Guard, I order you to turn this man out of the carriage; he has been annoying me with smoking, in spite of my having repeatedly asked him to desist. If you do not do so, and find out his name, so that he may be summoned before the magistrates, I shall report you."

"Can't do it, sir," was the guard's answer. "The gentleman's perfectly right; you have got into a wrong compartment; this is a smoking carriage."

"Smoking carriage!" said old crusty; apparently he was not aware of this recent stride in civilization by the railway companies.

"Yes, sir. Now sir, if you are going to change your seat, you must be quick about it; we can't wait here all day."

Handing his black bag and other traps to the guard, he hobbled out of the carriage, casting a glance full of malignance on me as he passed. When he had alighted on the platform, I saw him slowly scrutinize the board which notified that the carriage in which I was seated was devoted to the use of those who indulged in the habit of smoking.

I could not resist saying; "Good day, sir; you'll know a smoking carriage another time, I think, when you see it." After that I saw no more of my old friend, though I looked out of the carriage window at every station at which we stopped, for the purpose of seeing if he alighted. Apparently, however, his journey was a longer one than mine, for I reached my destination without getting another sight of him.

My college career closed, and I came up here to read for the bar. About six months ago, Amy Harris was stopping with the Ashtons, with whom I have always been on terms of great intimacy. Consequently during the young lady's stay there I saw a great deal of her; the fact is, hardly a day passed without my spending a portion of it at the Ashton house. The more I saw of Amy Harris the more I desired to see of her, and I made her an offer; you know with what result--she referred me to "papa." Papa, I was informed, resided at Lesborough, a small place about thirty miles beyond Oxford. To Lesborough, therefore, in a few days, I repaired, having been preceded by Amy and also by a letter, from Frank Ashton (who was well acquainted with Mr. Harris), saying that I was well off, of respectable family, and, in fact, in every way a desirable son-in-law. Mr. Harris was therefore prepared to receive me very graciously.

On being introduced to Mr. Harris, who was a man well passed the prime of life, there was something about him, I could not tell what, that told me we had met before; but the how, when and where of our meeting was gone from me. I tried hard to tax my memory with the circumstances under which we had previously met, for that this was not our first meeting, I felt convinced. But it was of no use--the treacherous elf-memory refused to render me any assistance, I did not like Mr. Harris' expression; I thought he seemed to scowl at me in a peculiarly unpleasant way. He, however, gave me no sign of having seen me before, and our interview proceeded. Everything went on smooth enough, Mr. Harris giving his consent to my engagement with his daughter; and I was congratulating myself that the business had been so satisfactorily transacted, when Amy's father said with a sour attempt at a smile:

"I must ask you one question, which I have little doubt your answer will prove to be unnecessary one. It is simply this: Are you a smoker?"

I can even now see the man's look of fiendish delight as he put the question. I knew him then; he was my fellow-passenger whom I had so unceremoniously caused to be removed to another railway carriage three years previously when he had raised an objection to my smoking. He had immediately recognized me, and determined to pay me off for my want of courtesy. I thought it showed the mean, sneaking spirit of the man asking me whether I smoked, when at the time he was perfectly aware of the fact, instead of reminding me in a straightforward way of our former meeting, and telling me that he retained his objection to the use of tobacco. I should have respected him in such a case, whereas now I despised him from my inmost soul.

For the first time in my life I was thankful that I did not possess the ability of easily recognizing facts; for had I known that Amy's father and my anti-tobacco fellow-passenger were one and the same person, I am afraid that I should not have had the courage to ask him for his daughter's hand.

As he had chosen to ignore our former meeting, I followed suit, replying, not without a good deal of anxiety at the result of my answer:

"I certainly am a smoker, though not to a great extent; I hope you have no objection to the habit."

"But I have a most decided objection to the filthy habit, and am sorry, Mr. Allen that I was not aware of this fact before you started on your journey down here, for you would have been spared the annoyance of a fruitless errand. I so much disapprove of smoking that I would not for a moment entertain a proposal for my daughter's hand from any one who indulged in it. I presume that there is nothing more to be said, and that our interview may be considered at an end. I am sorry you should have had all this unnecessary trouble. Good----"

"One moment, Mr. Harris," I exclaimed. "Surely this need not be the cause of any difficulty. Rather than be deprived of Amy, I will discontinue smoking; it will require a great deal of self-denial on my part to break off the habit, I admit; but I am ready to make any sacrifice rather than lose Amy."

"Oh! that certainly alters the case." he replied. "I was hardly prepared for this. If you will give me your word of honor that so long as you are engaged to my daughter, and after you have married her, if such marriage should take place, you will abstain from smoking without my permission, I will revoke my refusal of consent to your engagment with Amy."

I bound myself by word of honor that it should be so, and my engagement dated from that moment. He had certainly paid me off for fumigating him in the railway carriage with a vengeance. I hoped from his saying that I was not to smoke without his consent that he would occasionally give me permission to do so; but not a whiff, though I did hint to him on several subsequent occasions that I believed my digestive organs were becoming impaired by the want of the weed.

Amy and I were married.

As soon as our honeymoon was over, we set our wits to work to hit upon a plan for bringing old Harris to reason, and after a long consultation, decided upon a course which we thought would have the desired effect. Amy therefore wrote to Mr. Harris, to ask him to spend a few weeks with us (he is a widower, by the by,) to which request he graciously acceded. The day before his arrival I bought a fumigator for the purpose of fumigating plants with tobacco with a view to destroying little insects which frequently congregate upon them. I also purchased several pounds of the strongest tobacco I could lay my hands upon. I then set the boy to work at the machine in every room of the house, so that the smoke became so dense that it was actually difficult for us to see one another. The consequence was that on the day of Mr. Harris' arrival there was a most sickening stench of stale tobacco smoke pervading the house. I had told the boy to give the bed room intended for Mr. Harris a double dose, which he did. As soon as the old gentleman set foot in the hall he began to sniff vigorously; then he turned upon me a most withering look. He did not say another thing to me, however, and shortly afterwards I left him alone with Amy. Directly I had quitted the room, she told me that he had accused me of having broken my word in regard to the smoking. She positively stated that I had never had a pipe or cigar in my mouth since the day of my marriage, and affected not to perceive the unpleasant odor pervading the house.

I had given the boy his instructions so when I rang the bell after dinner he entered the room with the fumigator ready for action.

"What on earth is that thing?" asked my father-in-law.

No Surrender.

The monstrous frauds perpetrated at the election in this State on the 8th of October so far from discouraging us should only nerve us to more energetic efforts. If it was at that time a duty we owed to ourselves and to the country to aid in overthrowing the present corrupt party in power, it is ten-fold more so now that we have seen the means employed to pervert the will of the people. Never before was political crime so rampant; never was the ballot box so polluted. The very life of the nation depends on the defeat of this Administration of corruption. Let no man be dismayed at the result obtained by bribery and outrage, but rather let him go to the polls on the 5th of November next and cast his vote against the party which practices and countenances such abuses.

Democrats and Liberals! look to it that no man foregoes the right of suffrage at the Presidential election. See that none of your neighbors who favor Reform in the government stay at home. Only cowards quail at the first reverse. We can count on the votes of many honest men in the Republican ranks who are disgusted with the fraudulent election in October. The prospect is far from disheartening. If every Democratic and Liberal Republican vote is polled in November we can carry the State. The rowdies and illegal voters who swelled the majority for Hartranft will not be let loose on us then, as they will be needed for their rascally services in the States where they reside.

In an eloquent address to the people of the United States the National Liberal Republican Committee says:

"Fellow countrymen, the purity of the ballot-box must be defended, or dangers the most momentous threaten the Republic. The ballot is the very cornerstone of our national existence. When that fails, ruin envelops all. Unbounded wealth has been the bane of nations before our time. Has this disease by which other States have fallen attacked us at last in the most vital part, the sanctity of the ballot? Our people will bow in submission to an honest election, but who shall declare that an Executive chosen by dishonest means, which annuls the popular will, may command popular obedience? Corruption grows with its own success, and as may be expected, let these base deeds of the dominant party be repeated in November, and who shall say that the hour may not be fast approaching when some energetic spirit shall thunder in the willing ear of an outraged nation that physical resistance to such infamy is obedience to God.

Under the Lash.

When, last Spring, the clique of conspirators at Harrisburg had forced upon the unwilling Republicans of the State the candidates who have recently been counted in—not elected—and when the better class of Republican papers, led by the Press, had raised a cry of disgust at the outrage, the Scranton Republican lifted its voice in a puny wail and for a week or two uttered a feeble remonstrance against "the Ring." No sooner, however, had its protests attracted the attention of the powers which control the affairs of its party than its voice was incontinently silenced and its protests changed to plaudits. Whether bullied or bribed we know not, but this we do know, its opposition ceased. Some puerile excuse was offered as to the endangering the balance of the ticket but no special note was taken of it. The fact was too plain and the deduction to be drawn from it too obvious.

In a late issue, under the head of "Senator Cameron's Triumph" the following eulogistic language is made use of:

Since Gen. Cameron's return to the Senate in 1867 he has been an honor to the State. His record in that branch of the National Congress may well elicit the pride and praise of his constituency. His sterling common sense, a quality lacking in many public men, his vigorous well-cultivated mind, his great legislative experience, and the power of his personal magnetism, all combine with many other good qualities to make his influence a tower of strength at Washington.

This is decidedly refreshing to say the least in a newspaper which not very long since, opposed the candidates of this man Cameron, on grounds of total unfitness and afterwards ate its own words and supported them on grounds of expediency. Cameron has certainly made his bargain sure.

When the Republican, in this same article eulogising Cameron, states that "we never have worn a Cameron collar," it asks rather more in the way of credulity than most sensible men will be apt to grant. Its utterances say "no" its whole course during and since the campaign, very distinctly says "yes.";

Under the lash the Republican and its like cringe like whipped curs.

It is a cheering sign to note with what undaunted faith in the ultimate success of the cause of Greeley and Brown and Reconciliation the Democratic and Liberal Committees of the various States are calling upon the friends of our Presidential ticket to stand fast, and to assure that triumph in November of which fraud and corruption robbed us in the October elections. In the case of the vast majority of the Democrats and Liberals these calls upon their patriotism and party fealty are not needed; but the undiminished courage and earnest faith evinced by those best entitled to judge of the strength of Greeley and Brown in the respective States cannot but help to restore to confidence the few wavering, while to the masses of the party it brings the resolve to persevere in the path of duty. Now, more than ever, should every Democrat and Liberal determine to do whatever in him lies to bring about success; and that this is the feeling that prevails is very evident from the renewed determination to press forward to victory, which we are glad to see manifested on every hand.

TELEGRAPHIC reports from North Carolina and Arkansas show a concerted and diabolical purpose on the part of the Radicals to incite the negroes to violence and other crimes, in order to furnish a pretext to the Federal authorities for military interference. The printing office of the Sentinel at Raleigh (the leading Conservative paper of the State) was partially destroyed by an explosion of powder on Thursday night, which shook and alarmed the city. Charges of powder with a fuse were found in a part of the building which escaped destruction. Threats have been frequently made against Mr. Turner, editor of the Sentinel, on account of his manly exposures of the carpet-bag plunderers and their confederates. Only recently his wife and family were fired at by assassins in their private residence during his temporary absence.

On Wednesday evening the blacks were instigated to attack and burn the town of Osceola, on the Arkansas shore above Memphis, by one Fitzpatrick, the county register, who had killed the sheriff some weeks previously, and sought by this desperate means to avoid being brought to trial for that murder. A month ago two prisoners were murdered in cold blood by the sheriff of Pope county, who had arrested them on some pretended charge. The object of this atrocious crime was entirely political, and intended to lay the foundation of martial law.

Complete reports from Macon, Savannah, and other parts of Georgia establish conclusively that the negroes were organized, officered, and drilled to provoke a riot on election day, with the deliberate design of Federal intrusion. Nothing but the extreme forbearance and calm resolution of the white population to act on the defensive only, defeated this scandalous scheme.

All these crimes, and others equally infamous, have been concocted by partisans of the President, who are protected in their villany, to foment strife between the two races, and to revive the scenes of outrage and oppression by suspension of habeas corpus and military occupation for a political object only.—Washington Patriot.

Philadelphia's Shame.

Evidence establishing the infamous practices of the Philadelphia election boards is accumulating day by day. That the ballot box is presided over in that city by perjured scoundrels, who shrink from no outrage upon the rights of electors, is no longer a matter of suspicion, or the mere apology of the defeated party for its failure, but it is a notorious, ascertained and indisputable fact. For example, the returns of the Twenty-fifth ward for governor and congressman, as announced by the return judges at their meeting, on Friday, 11th inst., are as follows:

|---|---|
| For Hartranft | 1,931 |
| For Buckalew | 1,741 |
| For Harmer | 1,993 |
| For Phillips | 1,733 |
| Majority for Hartranft | 380 |
| " " Harmer | 252 |

Mr. Rodney C. Weber, United States supervisor of elections for the sixth division of the same ward, was present at a meeting of the precinct judges of the ward, held on the morning after the election, at the ward house, when and where the returns of the several precincts of the ward were made and cast up. Mr. Weber took a copy of the returns as then and there made by the precinct return judges and now gives them to the public as follows.

GOVERNOR.

| Division. | Hartranft | Buckalew. |
|---|---|---|
| First | 245 | 117 |
| Second | 181 | 116 |
| Third | 199 | 239 |
| Fourth | 91 | 411 |
| Fifth | 194 | 159 |
| Sixth | 158 | 77 |
| Seventh | 3 | 72 |
| Eighth | 165 | 114 |
| Ninth | 195 | 136 |
| Totals | 1,731 | 1,751 |
| Maj. for Buckalew | 20 | |

CONGRESS.

| Division. | Harmer. | Phillips. |
|---|---|---|
| First | 244 | 121 |
| Second | 175 | 114 |
| Third | 199 | 241 |
| Fourth | 99 | 411 |
| Fifth | 197 | 157 |
| Sixth | 160 | 270 |
| Seventh | 332 | 196 |
| Eighth | 192 | 111 |
| Ninth | 198 | 126 |
| Total | 1,736 | 1,723 |

In the return made by the return judge for the ward, on Friday, 11th inst., instead of Mr. Buckalew receiving 20 majority, Hartranft is allowed 380; and instead of Harmer receiving 23 he is given 423; a fraudulent alteration in favor of these radical candidates of 400 votes in a single ward. The city of Philadelphia is divided into 29 wards, and a systematic forgery of returns, such as is proved to have been perpetrated in the Twenty-fifth and other wards, would show that 11,600 of the majority in that city was manufactured to order by the return judges. The balance of that atrocious fraud upon electoral rights is made up of the votes of hired repeaters from the vilest dens of New York city, and the corrupt ballots of the bribed knaves who wear the livery of democrats in order that they may more effectively serve the polluters of the ballot box who glory in their degradation as agents of Simon Cameron. Where is the manhood of Philadelphia, that such devilry is suffered to blacken the name of the metropolis? Where is the hatred of wrong that once characterized the good Quakers of the disgraced city? Where is the piety of the Young Men's Christian Association, with that devoutest of youths, George H. Stuart, the swift witness to Hartranft's honesty and Grant's sobriety, to lead it militant against the forgery of election returns, the repeaters and rounders? Alas and alack! The oracles are dumb. There is none to speak in vindication of electoral rights in the ring-ridden city.—Patriot.

Senator Cole of California, whose term expires with the present Congress, is making himself particularly useful in the Grant cause, and is taking such a course as will best commend him to the personal gratitude of the President, who has, it is said, intimated his intention to take care of Mr. Cole "in case the Administration is re elected." The Senator is now engaged in an effort to popularize the Santo Domingo scheme. His speech in Sacramento on that question and in glorification of Gen. Grant is being sent broadcast through the country, and this is taken as an indication that the President will renew his efforts at annexation. Gen. Babcock recently advised a friend to invest money in Santo Domingo, as it would certainly be annexed.

CAMERON'S campaign in Pennsylvania was conducted on the principle of the "fruits meet for repentance" brought forth in the hearts of the amateur yachtmen who were caught in a squall while sailing upon the Delaware. They didn't know how to pray nor to sing. "We must do something, JACK," said BILL, "for we are going to be capsized. We can't pray, and we can't sing. Let us take up a collection!"

THE re-election of Simon Cameron as Governor, Auditor, Treasurer, and Senator of Pennsylvania—perhaps we ought to say as State Legislature also—revives some memories of his abandonment of the office of Secretary of War, which just now may be interesting. Judge Black in an article some time ago in The Galaxy alluded to the curtness of the note in which President Lincoln "accepted" Secretary Cameron's "resignation," without a word of compliment or regret. But the truth is, Mr. Cameron did not resign; he was dismissed; and Mr. Lincoln's note accepted what had never been offered. In an interview with a prominent New York gentleman, just before the appointment of Mr. Stanton, President Lincoln gave his reason for the change which he had resolved to make in the War Department. These were, first, Mr. Cameron's scandalous affiliations with army contractors; and secondly, his incapacity, which had resulted in serious disorders and difficulties in the affairs of the army. We believe that these faults, however, are not considered materal by President Grant.—Tribune.

The official returns from Indiana show that the next Legislature will stand: In the Senate, 27 Administrationists and 23 Opposition. House, 54 Administrationists and 46 Opposition.

The returns are all in but those from Delaware and Pike counties. Accepting the previous reports from these counties, Hendricks will have a majority of over 2,200

Official returns of the Ohio State Election show the following Republican majorities on the State ticket: For Secretary of State, Allen Wickoff, 15,055; Supreme Judge, John Welch, 10,189; Board of Public Works, R. D. Porter, 16,455. The total vote for Secretary of State was 520,037, the largest ever cast in Ohio. The new Congressional delegation stands 13 Republicans to 7 Democrats.

The Patent Office has made an important decision. The Examiner of Trade-marks having decided against certain trade-marks of a manufacturer and vender of flour in St. Louis, in which the names of the manufactories were embraced in the well-known Masonic emblems of the square and compass, an appeal was made against the Examiner's decision. J. M. Thatcher, acting Commissioner, has sustained the decision, giving his reasons why such combinations of Masonic forms are calculated to defeat the fundamental object of the trade-mark law.

The horse disease, now raging at Rochester, has assumed alarming proportions. Fully one-half of the horses in the city are affected by it. The livery stables have stopped business; the railway company—having 100 horses sick—have taken off some of their cars, and it is said that in O'Brien's circus, which came lately from Canada, every horse is laid down by the disease.

Advices from Omaha tell of prairie fires raging in Nebraska, destroying the country almost entirely within a circuit of thirty miles from the city. A prairie fire started two miles north of it on Sunday, causing much destruction of buildings, fences, sheds, &c., at the race track. The soldiers were out all Sunday night and yesterday fighting the flames to save the barracks, and have so far succeeded in their efforts.

The scarcity of coal in England is becoming more serious than ever. Owing to the difficulty of obtaining miners in Belgium the mining companies of that country are not able to execute their English orders, and the result is a scarcity which has again advanced the price of coal in England.

The Central Committee of the Municipal Reform Association of Philadelphia are busily at work in ferreting out the wholesale frauds of the late election. They have already, upon the testimony of election officers, elicited facts of so astounding a nature as to be in possession of sufficient evidence to legally set aside the Grant-Hartranft candidates.

Another outrage has been committed upon King Amadeus of Spain. While walking in the Plaza del Oriente two men, who had concealed themselves behind statues, threw large stones at him, shouting at the time, "Viva la republica." The King was not hurt, but the event causes the greatest excitement in Madrid. The scoundrels were pursued by the police, but managed to escape.

At Lancaster, Pa., Captain McMelen, Select Councilman and member of the Republican Country Committee, and John Wittlinger, a prominent broker, have been arrested and held each in $1500 bail on the charge of issuing fraudulent naturalization papers. McMelen made a strong effort to have the charge against him withdrawn, but the Mayor refused.

Boyd Henderson, a Pennsylvanian, who arrived in Havana on the 11th inst., was arrested at his hotel on the evening of the 17th, on suspicion of being in league with the insurgents. He has since been released. He is a correspondent of the New York Herald.

The Canadian horse disease has reached Buffalo, where it is "prevailing to an alarming extent."

A despatch from Wheeling, W. V., states that, owing to the doubts of some regarding the election for Congressmen last August, the Supervisors of that county have ordered the polls to be opened on "the 24th of October next" for those "who see fit to vote again."

The wife of Horace Greeley is lying at the point of death. Mr. Greeley is therefore compelled to decline invitations to visit various parts of the country.

Hon. J. M. Morrill has been re-elected United States Senator by the Legislature of Vermont. He received 211 votes to 171.

John V. Creeley Republican Congressmen from the 2d Philadelphia district, who is charged with swindling, has absconded.

The renowned historian of the Reformation, Rev. Henry Merle d'Aubigne died suddenly on Monday at Geneva, in Switzerland.

A large number of the most influential business men of Pittsburgh have united in a petition to Secretary Boutwell, asking for the reissue of $44,000,000 of greenbacks retired by Secretary McCulloch, as a measure of relief from the present monetary stringency.

The annual report of the postmaster general is being rapidly completed, and will renew the recommendation for a national telegraph system throughout the United States.

The dreaded horse disease has made its appearance in New York city and hundreds of horses are attacked. It threatens to interfere seriously with the trade of the city.

At York, Pa., last March, after the appointment of the re auditing committee of the Legislature, all the vouchers were stolen from the Court House. The committee, however, succeeded in discovering frauds to the amount of $50,000. On Monday night last, the re-auditors' report was stolen from the Court House, together with all the accounts for the past six years, and the "stub book" containing the record of notes issued by the county. The re-auditors' report, containing evidence of the frauds, was to have been filed at the November term of the courts.

John Cessna is elected to Congress in this district, beyond all doubt. His majority is large, though he runs behind his ticket in this district. When such as he receive the endorsement of the people; "the post of honor is the private station."—Bedford Gazette.

A GRANT organ in Ohio, The Bellefontaine Press, beats even John Thomas and Roscoe Conkling in its enthusiasm for the two-term candidate. With an eye perhaps to the Pennsylvania frauds, it exclaims:

"There is a similarity between Grant and Christ—the latter the Savior of the world, and the former the Savior of his country. One cannot think of the whole character of Grant without thinking of Christ."

Give that man a post-office immediately—if he hasn't one already.

If you would have your shade trees beautiful in the Spring trim them now.

Snow fell to the depth of an inch and a half at Laporte, Sullivan county, on Monday of last week.

A MAN named Patrick Delaney had his leg broken by a fall of coal, whilst working in the Continental Colliery at Centralia on Monday last.

THERE was quite a sharp shower of hail in this town on Friday afternoon last, but the hail-stones were not of sufficient size to do material injury.

THE brick work of the new hotel is finished and ready for the reception of the French roof. The building makes a fine appearance.

AN exchange says that coal oil barrels can be rendered fit to put cider in by thoroughly soaking and washing in hot lye, but it takes at least a week to get them in proper condition.

CHRIST Church, Reading, has been chosen by Bishop Howe as the Cathedral Church of the Central Episcopal Diocese in Pennsylvania.

OCTOBER, this year, has been as cold and blustry as the weather was a month later in 1871. It is said the early ripening of fruit is one of the several indications that the winter will set in early.

OWING to the scarcity of straw many farmers have been obliged to substitute tarred rope for binding fodder.—Farmers are busy husking one of the largest crops of corn with which they have ever been favored.

PEOPLE in the rural districts before building fires in their stoves ought to see that their chimneys are clean. We notice the destruction by fire of a number of houses, the result of foul chimneys.

A Democrat who refuses to vote against Grant because Buckalew is defeated, is like a soldier who fires into his own ranks because his pickets are massacred by the enemy.

UNDER the new law the postage on transient newspapers, magazines, pamphlets, etc., is just half what it was under the old law—that is, such matter can now be sent in parcels not exceeding twelve ounces, at one cent for every two ounces.

THE body of Wm. J. Young, proprietor of the Kingston House, Kingston, who disappeared so mysteriously on the 3d inst., was found floating in the Susquehanna river, at Plymouth, Friday night, Oct. 11. An inquest was held upon the body by Esquire Eno.

POTATOES yet to be dug should be taken out only on dry days, allowing them to remain on the surface long enough to dry, and immediately transferred to bins in well ventilated, dry cellars. They should be handled as little as possible, and kept from the light after storing.

KEROSENE and powdered lime, whiting or wood ashes, will scour tin with the least labor. Kerosene and whiting will also cleanse silver ware, do grates, hinges, etc. Wet the flannel slightly in the oil, dip into the whiting, and rub hard, wash off with hot soap suds, and brighten with a chamois skin or newspaper.

THE relaying of pavements to correspond with the new grading of Main street is going on with vigor. In many instances the lowering was unexpectedly great, notably in front of Brown's Hotel. The changes when made invariably conduce to the better appearance of the street and will undoubtedly enhance the value of property.

WE would call attention to the advertisement of the County Commissioners, printed in another column; "A last notice" to collectors having unsettled county duplicates in their possession. Such collectors would do well to give heed to the notice and thereby save trouble and expense to themselves.

OWING to the breaking of our press the last issue of the COLUMBIAN was delayed beyond the usual time of publication, thereby missing certain of the mails. Such unfortunate accidents will occur occasionally in spite of care and we trust that such of our readers as failed to receive their papers on time last week will bear their disappointment with what patience they may.

THE entire vote of Centralia, both Democratic and Republican was cast at the late election for Judge Elwell. This is very creditable to the people of the Borough, and we note it with pleasure. The bide bound Republicans of this town were not magnanimous enough to do the same, although they had no candidate of their own for whom to vote.

LAST week it was announced by hand bills posted conspicuously in different places in town that there would be a meeting at the Republican Club Rooms on Saturday evening and that the orator of the occasion would be J. Boyd Robison Esq. That meeting did not take place. Robison was there but the audience wasn't. There was either considerable private business to be attended to on that evening by members of the club, or else there was a lack of appreciation, on the part of the Republicans of this town, of the oratorical abilities of Robison. We understand that four persons were present but this, it must be admitted, was rather a small number to favor with a formal political speech. Robison should feel and express in fitting terms his gratitude to those four gentlemen for their attendance. They deserve it.

THE official vote of the State now complete, gives the following Republican majorities:

| Hartranft, | 25,627. |

| Mercur, | 40,443. |

THE Milwaukee News says: The day has gone by when the fate of a State-prison ticket, like that in Pennsylvania can decide the result of a Presidential election. It is no longer the 'keystone.' Great States growing up to the west of them have stolen the sceptre from Ohio and Pennsylvania, and we can elect Presidents without them."

AT a meeting of the Fourth Ward Democracy of Philadelphia held on Monday night, a resolution was passed formally expelling from the party Alderman "Bill" McMullin and Samuel Josephs, a member of the Legislature from that district. The reason assigned for this action was that both men had sold out to the Republicans and had given aid to Hartranft. We are glad to see this; it is a plan which might, with advantage, be followed in other places. Columbia county has in her Democratic ranks certain men who, whilst claiming to be Democrats, are always to be found secretly or openly opposing the party. Such men should be expelled and not allowed to vote at the delegate elections, or appear as delegates in the county Conventions. The place for them is with those whose money they take and whose candidates they support, They must be weeded out!

THE Reading R. R. threatens to remove its shops from the city of Reading, and in view of such a contingency the Williamsport Standard thus speaks of the eligibility of Bloomsburg:

Bloomsburg is also suggested. In many respects it certainly has great advantages. The superior quality of iron manufactured at that place, the abundance of oak timber, and of agricultural productions, of water and the convenience of coal, and the large flats about the town above the reach of floods and their perfect drainage, make Bloomsburg a desirable point for railroad and other works. The only surprise is that its great advantages have not heretofore been improved.

Of course the advantages of Williamsport excel all others, but Bloomsburg is not without most formidable pretensions.

With all her wealth and inherent power, Reading must look to her laurels.

A CORRESPONDENT sends us the following sharp criticism of the course of the New York Day Book. He might have added Pomeroy's Democrat, which is one of the same kind of noisy, illogical and unreasonable sheets, doing more harm to the party to which it pretends to belong than to the opposition. No honest intelligent Democrat should have anything to do with either of them.

This paper has had for the last ten years, quite a large circulation in this county, chiefly, we think, in the townships of Benton, Sugarloaf and Fishingcreek. Extremely radical during the war, and on the negro question, it seemed to commend itself to our friends as entirely reliable.

It turns out to be a wolf in sheep's clothing. While pretending to be specially democratic, and the ardent friend of the South, it has put up Grant's side show, the Louisville nomination, and is doing all it can to defeat the Democratic party. We do not remember a more infamous instance of trerchery, and we are not surprised to learn, that it will soon cease to have any circulation among Democrats.—That is right.

SCRIBNER'S Monthly for the ensuing years promises to be even better than heretofore. No magazine in the country ranks higher at the present, and it seems to be the intention of the enterprising publishers to maintain its high reputation. Col. T. W. Higginson, Dr. Holland, Edward King, M. D. Conway and other brilliant writers are to furnish articles during the coming year.

Dr. Holland's serial story, entitled "Arthur Bonnicastle," to be commenced in November, and continued through the year, will be autobiographical in form, and in a different vein from the earlier stories of this writer. It will incorporate much of personal experience, abound in interesting incident, and will deal with some of the most important problems of American life. The illustrations of this story by Miss Hallock will be among the best that have appeared in the Magazine.

Published by Scribner & [Co., 654 Broadway, New York.

A very pretty mantel ornament may be obtained by suspending an acorn, by a piece of thread tied around it, within half an inch of the surface of some water contained in a vase, tumbler or saucer, and allow it to remain undisturbed for several weeks. It will soon burst open, and small roots seek the water; a straight and tapering stem, with beautiful, glossy green leaves, will shoot upward, and present a very pleasing appearance. Chestnut trees may be grown in this manner, but their leaves are not so beautiful as those of the oak. The water should be changed once a moth, taking care to supply it of the same warmth; bits of charcoal added to it will prevent the water from souring. If the little leaves turn yellow, add one drop of ammonia into the utensil which holds the water, and it will renew their luxuriance.

The Catawissa Railroad Lease,

The following, says the Reading Eagle, is the substance of the terms of the lease, which is for 999 years, of the road and properties of the Catawissa to the Reading, namely:

The Catawissa railroad is to receive each year 30 per cent. of the gross receipts, the Reading to guarantee the first year the interest on all loans and $151,000; the second year the interest and $178,000; the third year the interest and $202,000; the fourth year and ever after, the interest and $226,000. The Catawissa Railroad is to issue $1,000,000 new stock to bear interest in 1874 of 2½ per cent.; in 1875 of 4½ per cent., and in 1876 and ever after, 7 per cent. The preferred stockholders are to be authorized to subscribe at the rate of forty-five shares for every one hundred shares in stock, and to pay for the same by relinquishing all their claims for arrears of dividends. In case the receipts for any one year fall short of the amount named above for said year, the Reading Railroad Company to have no claim on the receipts of any other year. From this date the Reading Railroad will learn the cause of the large advance in the price of the preferred shares. The lease is considered mutually advantageous by the respective parties to it, and as the assent of the stockholders on neither side is required to ratify the agreement, it may be considered accomplished.

Senator Buckalew.

Though Mr. Buckalew has been counted out of the Governorship of Pennsylvania there is yet some prospect of his great abilities being made of service to the people of that State in the formation of a new constitution. On the 12th of November next the delegates elected on the 8th inst. are to assemble in convention at Harrisburg to revise the present fundamental law of Pennsylvania or frame a new one, and by a peculiarity of the law under which the delegates were chosen it appears that Mr. Buckalew may yet take his seat as a member of the body. It seems that when a vacancy occurs in the membership of the Convention the law allows the delegates at large who were elected by the same party as elected the deceased or resigned member to choose his successor. Thus if a Democratic member should die or resign before the time of meeting of the Convention, or at any time during the session, the Democratic delegates at large can fill his place, and e converso in case of a Republican. It is intimated that some Democratic district delegate will resign in Mr. Buckalew's favor, and the programme is for that gentleman to be forthwith installed in the vacant seat as above described. During the gubernatorial canvass Mr. Buckalew more than once expressed his own personal preference of a seat in the Convention to the Governorship, and would undoubtedly accept the position of delegate if the programme above mentioned be carried out. For the sake of good government in Pennsylvania it is to be hoped that it may. Mr. Buckalew is a politician in the best sense of that word—the sense it had when importing one versed in statecraft, and not only conversant with but competent to the management of public affairs. Should he enter the Convention his impress will be beneficially manifested in Pennsylvania's new fundamental law.—World.

Water!! Water!!

Artesian wells are multiplying in Chicago, twenty-one of them having already been bored, and in no instance has a failure to obtain a plentiful supply of water occurred. The well at Kenwood, just south of Chicago, 1,255 feet deep and five and a half inches in diameter at the bottom, yields 650 gallons per minute. It cost about $6,000. Another well in the business centre of Chicago is 1,000 feet deep, yields 525 gallons per minute, and cost $7,000. The usual depth of the wells is from 1,200 to 1,300 feet, and the average cost is $6,000 for a five and a half inch well 1,200 feet deep, and $5,000 for a four and a half inch bore to the same depth. The surface pressure of the water varies from twenty-two to thirty-five pounds to the square inch, and the latter pressure is sufficient to throw a stream to the height of one hundred feet.

The deepest well in Chicago is in the South Park, where the bore, three and a half inches in diameter, has been carried down 1,640 feet. The comparative smallness of the flow from this well is adduced as an argument in favor of larger borings.

I am not at all acquainted with the geological formation of the country upon which the city of Chicago is built; but the authorities I have been able to examine, all indicate it to be what is known as Devonian. The county of Columbia is upon the same sort of strata or formation; and as we all know, underlaid in Bloomsburg, by beds of limestone. Nor can it be at any great depth under the town, dipping into the creek one mile below, and cropping out a little more than that above—and by the further fact that the wells at fifty and sixty feet are hard and those at less depth mostly affording soft water.

That water would be very plentiful at Chicago might be expected from its situation on the lake; but I am inclined to think that anywhere within our corporate limits, an abundant supply of water could be obtained at from 1000 to 1500 feet. This conclusion is arrived at from a consideration of our location at the base, as it were, of a water shed of many miles, and the high mountains surrounding our immediate vicinity.

Long Pond in Sullivan county is said to have no visible outlet, or at least that no stream issues from it adequate to carry off the accumulations. If so, it has doubtless some percolations into subterranean caverns or streams. Suppose at a depth of a thousand feet or more such a body should be tapped; a never failing supply of the purest water would be supplied. Certainly this region should yield to science, and a little money what is so much needed. It is worth an examination by a competent geologist. Does any body care to urge it?

QUERIST.

WE expect game to be plentiful and cheap in our Bloomsburg markets so soon as the various hunting parties from town return. There are many crack shots among them.

THE following, taken from the Hazleton Sentinel would seem to indicate that the opinion expressed by the COLUMBIAN as to the merits of our late fair is shared by others. There is certainly need of a change in many respects:

There was a large number of people in attendance at the Columbia County Fair last week, but the display of agricultural productions and manufactured articles on exhibition, was so meagre as to elicit expressions of general disappointment and regret. The ground seemed to be devoted almost exclusively to a variety of humbug exhibitions, and gambling booths of every description, from which the stranger wes led to infer that money was the main object of the management in getting up the exhibition this season. We believe they have made a sad mistake.

Often persons receive an accidental blow or fall, from whence discoloration of the skin is apt to ensue. To prevent this, take a little dry starch or arrow-root, moisten it with cold water, and lay it on the injured part. This must be done immediately, so as to prevent the action of the air upon the skin: However, it may be effectually applied some hours after. Raw meat is not always at hand, and some children have an insurmountable repugnance to having it applied. These applications are not always of certain effect. There is no remedy for a black eye but bathing in hot water, which is often very tedious, but if immediately applied it is a sure remedy or preventive.

THERE was an election in South Carolina last week in which the candidates were all Republicans. The Ring candidate, Moses, was elected Governor and the whole ticket on which he ran. It is reported that Ex-Gov. Perry is elected to Congress. This, if so, is good news, as Mr. Perry is a white man and a gentleman, something new for an office holder in that State.

We have nothing to say regarding this election beyond quoting the words of the Philadelphia Press on the occasion.

South Carolina elects the entire Ring Republican ticket. We are sorry for this. She has been published without stint. She will now be plundered beyond measure.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

OLD THINGS HAVE PASSED AWAY.—This is at least true of the old method of treating the long abused and much abused human body. It is no longer considered wise to put a patient to the torture in order to cure him of a disease in which pain is already undermining the energies of his system. True science ranges itself on the side of nature, and endeavors to assist her in her fight against disease. This is the province of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the most approved tonic ever advertised in this country. It may be recommended as a fall medicine, par excellence; for it is in the fall that billiousness, dyspepsia and malarious fever are especially prevalent. The frame, exhausted by the heats of summer, is relaxed and feeble at its close, and requires, we may say demands, artificial assistance. Affect it that assistance in occasional doses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and the evils referred to may be escaped. Throughout the far West, and on the steaming alluvial of the Southern rivers, all the varieties of periodical fever are probably rife to-day. Had a course of Hostetter's Bitters been commenced by the sufferers a month ago, i.e., before the unhealthy season set in, seven-eighths of them would in all probability be in their usual health at the present time. So much for not keeping in the house and using daily, the best safeguard against epidemic and epidemic fevers.

As flocks of impostors and imitators are trying to follow in the wake of the great American remedy, therefore be sure that the article you buy is genuine and verified by the proper trade-marks. The true article can only be obtained in bottles. Beware of the spurious bitters sold by the gallon or in keg.

TRIUMPHANT FOR TWENTY YEARS.—More than twenty years ago the Mustang Liniment made its debut in the West. Its cures of the various external diseases of horses and cattle, astonished the planters and farmers of the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, and a demand for it sprung up which necessitated its manufacture on an extensive scale. Soon the discovery was made that it was a grand specific for rheumatism, gout, neuralgia, earache, toothache, and other external ailments of mankind. Then it was tried as a healing, pain killing application in cases of outward injury, such as cut, bruises, burns, sprains, &c., and was found equally serviceable. The fame of the new remedy for some of the most painful ills that afflict mankind, and the lower animals, spread rapidly, and Mustang Liniment soon took rank in every state and territory of the Union as a standard cure.

Important Testimony!

The following letters are among the many we are constantly receiving from persons who have been cured by

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup,
Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic,
AND
Schenck's Mandrake Pills.

Pennsgrove, Salem County, New Jersey.
FEBRUARY 27, 1872.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK, N. E. corner Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia.

Respected Sir—I take pleasure in adding my testimony to that of the many others who have been cured by the efficacy of Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Sea Weed Tonic, and Mandrake Pills.

Consumption has been hereditary with my family, most of its members having died of it at early ages. My brother and three brothers died at the age of 21, one brother at 27, and my sister at 19.

I was, when about 21 years, seized with liver complaint, which rapidly developed into Pulmonary Consumption. I was compelled to relinquish my employment (that of a ship-smith.)

I consulted skillful and eminent physicians, and tried many patent nostrums, but without success, so that my friends were sure that there was no hope of my recovery, for I was reduced from 140 pounds to 101, and was not able to do anything without assistance.

By what I now look upon as a Providential interposition, I was induced to try your remedies, and place myself under your treatment, and so rapid and thorough was my recovery, that it seemed as though some superhuman power was at work, and to-day I am as well as at any time during my life. I weigh 152 pounds, am 39 years old, and for some time have been regularly attending to my business, bidding fair to live to a good old age.

I am thankful to you beyond expression for having placed me in a position where I am a benefit instead of a burden to my family.

Your Mandrake Pills are the only medicine I ever use now. I think they are the best in the world.

I can refer you to hundreds of my neighbors who will verify all I have written, and any information any of you below citizens may desire, will be freely and gladly given, upon receipt of stamp, by Yours, etc.

JOHN C. HEWITT.

Key West, Fla., Feb. 19, 1872.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK, N. E. cor. Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia.

Dear Sir—Please forward, per first steamer, six bottles Sea Weed Tonic and twelve bottles Pulmonic Syrup.

Your medicines are of such value that I cannot be without them in my household, and in fact no family should be without them.

I have given them a fair test, and openly declare them to be even better than you claim.

Very respectfully yours, etc.,
W. A. WHITEHURST.

PHILADELPHIA, March 1, 18 2.

DR. J. H. SCHENCK:

Respected Sir—I take pleasure in awarding to you this certificate of the wonderful cure your Pulmonic Syrup and Sea Weed Tonic produced. My throat and bronchial tubes were so highly inflamed that it was almost impossible for me to swallow my food.

I was on a visit to my uncle, Mr. Charles Johnson, No. 912 Federal street, who says your medicines raised him from almost death after all other means had failed, and he having, therefore, full confidence in the virtue of your remedies, strongly recommended me to try them. I did so, and in one week from the time I commenced taking them my throat underwent a very great change for the better, so that I could eat my meals without any difficulty or pain. I can scarcely find words to express my gratitude for the early relief your invaluable medicines produced upon me, and I deem it but an act of gratitude to give you the acknowledgement of my appreciation. Yours respectfully,
RACHEL M. JACOBS.
No. 406 West Thirty-third street, New York.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP,

SEA WEED TONIC,

and MANDRAKE PILLS.

These are the only medicines that will cure Pulmonary Consumption. Dr. Schenck has been in constant practice over thirty years continually examining lungs, and knows his medicines. If properly taken, will cure Consumption. The Mandrake Pills cleanse the liver and stomach; his Sea Weed Tonic dissolves the food, stimulates the coating of the stomach, and makes it digest. His Pulmonic Syrup ripens the matter, and nature throws it off without any exertion.

Price of the Pulmonic Syrup and Sea Weed Tonic, $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 per half dozen. Mandrake Pills 25 cents per box.

WELLS' CARBOLIC TABLETS

Worthless imitations are on the market, but the only scientific and reliable Carbolic Acid for Lung diseases is which chemically combined with other well-known remedies, as in these Tablets, and all parties are cautioned against using any other.

In all cases of irritation of the mucus membrane these TABLETS should be freely used, their cleansing and healing properties are astonishing.

Be warned, never neglect a cold, it is easily cured in its incipient stage, but if allowed to become chronic the cure is exceedingly difficult, use Wells' Carbolic Tablets as a specific.

How to Fatten Chickens.

It is hopeless to fatten chickens while they are at liberty. They must be put in a proper coop; and this, like most other poultry appurtenance, need not be expensive. To fatten twelve fowls, a coop may be three feet long, eighteen inches high, and eighteen inches deep, made entirely of bars. No part solid—neither top, sides nor bottom. Discretion must be used, according to the size of the chickens put up. They do not want room; indeed, the closer they are the better—provided they can all stand up at the same time. Care must be taken to put up such as have been accustomed to be together, or they will fight. If one is quarrelsome, it is better to remove it at once, as, like other bad examples, it soon finds imitators. A diseased chicken should not be put up.

The food should be ground oats; and may either be put up in a trough or on a flat board running along the front of the coop. It may be mixed with either water or milk—the latter is the better. It should be well soaked, forming a pulp as loose as can be, provided it does not run off the board. They must be well fed three or four times a day—the first time as soon after daybreak as may be possible or convenient, and then at intervals of four hours. Each meal should be as much and no more than they can eat up clean. When they have done feeding, the board should be wiped, and some gravel may be spread. It causes them to feed and thrive.

After a fortnight of this treatment you will have good fat fowls. If, however, there are but five or six to be fatted, they must not have as much as though there were twelve. Nothing is easier than to allow them the proper space, as it is only necessary to have two or three pieces of wood to pass between the bars and form a partition.—This may also serve when fowls are up at different degrees of fatness. This requires attention, or fowls will not keep fat or healthy.

As soon as the fowl is sufficiently fatted it must be killed; otherwise it will not get fatter, but will lose flesh. If fowls are intended for market of course they are or may be all fatted at once; but if for consumption, it is better to put them at such intervals as will suit the time when they will be required for the table.

When the time arrives for killing, whether they are meant for market or otherwise, they should be kept without food or water for twelve or fifteen hours. This enables them to be kept for some time after being killed, even in hot weather.

APPLE BUTTER.—A correspondent of the Ohio Farmer says: Noticing in your paper an article "How to make a barrel of apple butter," I will give you my plan: Soon as the cider is brought from the press, we proceed to boil it down as quickly as possibly, to avoid fermentation, but instead of beginning to fill with apples when half boiled, and stirring with a paddle twelve hours, we continue the boiling process till it is all boiled down to a good syrup, say about five gallons into one, which can be poured into a wood or stone vessel, and will keep if not ready to make up immediately. The evening previous to make up, with the assistance of our men folks, we pare and core our apples which we stew in a little sweet cider, if we have it, otherwise, water or some of the boiled cider weakened down. When the apples are cooked soft we commence stirring, adding the boiled cider as fast as as it will bear. Four bushels of apples are sufficient for thirty-two gallons of cider. Three hours of brisk boiling and constant stirring will make it strong enough to keep a year, if desired.

GEO. E. WORRING, in a late number of the Agriculturist, thus alludes to the system of deep cans for milk, when set away for raising cream. Speaking of his butter he writes: "It has never been more easily made, and never better; and the advantage of the deep can system was never better demonstrated. I am sure that any dairyman who makes even fifty pounds of butter per week would be more than satisfied with his investment if he would rearrange his milk room so as to set his milk in deep cans, even if he has to use a windmill, as we do, to get a supply of fresh, cool water to set them in."

Mr. Warring uses cans eight inches in diameter, and twenty inches deep, set in spring water up the rim; he is now making 150 pounds of butter per week, and gets a high price for it, as the "Ogden Farm Butter," is well known for its quality and uniformity.

LIME IN CROPS.—There is said to be carried off from the soil nine pounds of lime in twenty-five bushels of oats, and fifteen pounds in thirty-eight bushels of barley. There are thirty-five pounds of lime in two tons of rye grass, one hundred and twenty-six pounds in two tons of clover, and one hundred and forty pounds in twenty-five tons of turnips, and two hundred and seventy pounds in nine tons of potatoes. Some soils contain abundance of lime for a thousand years, while others require an occasional application of lime as a fertilizer.

RAT-PROOF CORN-CRIB.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette, gives the following directions for making a rat-proof corn-crib:

Let the four corner posts be 8 inches square; frame the sills which are to support the floor of the corn-crib into the posts at a distance of two feet from the lower end. Before putting the frame together, taper the lower ends of the posts for the distance of two feet, so that at the very base the posts shall be only 4 inches squar. Now, when the frame is set up let these posts also stand on tapered rocks. If the crib needs more than these four posts to bear up the corn that will be put into it, make legs like the lower portions of these posts, and set these legs under the sills. Now lay the joints or sleepers on the sills, and put on the ficor, making the latter tight, and which will be about three feet from the ground. Have the door made tight, and keep it shut, and no rats will get into your crib.

Cows and sheep should not be pastured together. Horses and sheep form a more suitable partnership, as their grazing habits are similar.

Young Folks.

The Boy and the Wolf.

When I was a boy I lived among the Green Mountains in Vermont, in Winter making snow forts and snow men, sliding down the steep hills, and in Summer and Autumn wandering over the mountains after flowers or nuts, or catching the beautiful trout from the brooks. But my brother in Wisconsin wrote me to come to him, and I went. He lived on what was called 'Baxter's Prairie.' It was covered with flowers, and the many clear lakes around abounded in fish and ducks, and our principal food was 'hoe cakes' and salt pork.

One of our neighbors had not had any meat for a long time, and getting out of powder they had no game; so one day they sent up their oldest son, a boy about ten years old, for a piece of pork. As he was carrying it homeward, and going through a piece of woods by Silver Lake, he heard a rustling in the leaves in a thicket by the roadside. He stopped and listened; all was still.—Again he pushed forward; and the leaves rustled behind him, and he thought he heard a stealthy step. Again he stopped; everything was still except the gentle dash of the waves upon the pebbly beach and the rapid beating of his own heart. He dreaded to go forward and dared not stay for he saw night was approaching when the woods always echoed with the howl of the hungry wolf, and the savage bear and stealthy catamount came out from their dens. So, picking up a club, he again started homeward. Again came the stealthy step behind him, nearer and nearer until he saw a gaunt and savage wolf creeping after him, and as he hurried on, still clinging to his meat, the wolf might at any moment spring upon him.

Still the boy, though he trembled in every limb, did not lose his presence of mind. He remembered having heard his father say that if any one faced a wild animal and looked it square in the eye it would not dare to attack him. He turned around and faced the angry wolf, and commenced walking backward toward his home, still a long mile and a half away. As the woods grew darker the wolf came nearer, showing his white teeth, with the hair bristling upon his back. The courageous boy knew that if he gave up his piece of pork he was safe, and could run home unmolested, but he knew there were hungry ones at home awaiting his return. So backward he went, step by step. As the wolf came nearer he hit him square upon the head with a stone, when, with an angry 'yelp,' the wolf sprang into the thicket and set up a long and dismal howl. The boy listened to hear if there were any answering howls, and hearing none took courage; but soon the savage beast, maddened with hunger, came at him again. With his club he gave him a well directed blow between the eyes, which sent him howling back again into the thicket. Again and again was the contest renewed; many times did the savage yet cowardly animal make a spring at the lad, and many times did the brave boy beat him off, until at last he came near the log cabin of his brother, when the disappointed wolf, with a long and wailing howl, dashed into the woods. Trembling with excitement and wet with perspiration, the boy dropped the meat upon the floor, crying, 'Mother, I've got it, mother I've got it,' and fell exhausted at his mother's feet.

'I don't believe that,' says Henry; 'we all have to run, and so would nine men out of ten. I do not believe there ever was a boy so brave as that.' Yet the story is true, boys, if it does seem a pretty large one. I can give you the boy's name.

A Lesson for a Lazy Boy.

A farmer went to town one day, accompanied by his son, little Thomas.

"See," said he to him on the way, "there is a broken horse shoe in the road; pick it up and put it into your pocket."

"O, no, father," replied Thomas, "it isn't worth while to stop and pick it up."

His father, answering nothing, picked it up and put it in his own pocket. He sold it to the blacksmith in the next village for three farthings, and bought cherries with the money.

After this they continued their journey. The sun was burning hot. Neither house nor tree nor spring was anywhere to be seen. Thomas suffered with thirst, and had great difficulty in keeping up with his father.

The latter, then, as if by accident, let fall a cherry. Thomas picked it up with as much eagerness as if it had been gold, and put it in his mouth. This game continued until all the cherries had been picked up. When the last had been eaten, the father turned to his son, smiling, and said to him:

"You see now that if you had been willing to stoop once to pick up the horse shoe, you would not have been obliged to do it a hundred times for the cherries."

To Make Boys Farmers.

I wish all the fathers would heed what the American Agriculturist says:—Induce the boys to take an interest in the farm, in the implements, in the stock; tell them all your plans, your successes and failures; give them a history of your life and what you did, and how you lived when a boy; but do not harp too much on the degenerate character of young men of the present age; praise them when you can, and encourage them to do still better. Let them dress up in the evening instead of sitting down in their dirty clothes in a dirty room. Provide plenty of light. Thanks to kerosene, our country homes can be as brilliantly lighted as the gas-lit residences in the city. Encourage the neighbors to drop in, evenings. Talk agriculture rather than politics; speak of the importance of large crops, of good stock, of liberal feeding, and of the advantage of making animals comfortable, rather than of the hard times, low prices and high wages. Above all encourage the boy to read good agricultural papers. Get him some good agricultural book to study. Read it with him, and give him the benefit of your experience and criticism. When he has mastered this, give him another. In our own case, we owe our love for farming principally to the fact that our father told us of everything that he was doing on the farm; answering all the questions and encouraging, rather than refusing, our child-like desire of helping him to plow, to chop, to drain, as well as firing the brush heap.

This Cut Illustrates the manner of Using

DR. PIERCE'S

Fountain Nasal Injector,

OR

DOUCHE.

This instrument is especially designed for the perfect application of

DR. SAGE'S CATARRH REMEDY.

It is the only form of instrument yet invented with which fluid medicine can be carried high up and perfectly applied to all parts of the affected nasal passages, and the chambers or cavities communicating therewith, to which sores and ulcers frequently exist, and from which the catarrhal discharge generally proceeds. The want of success in treating Catarrh heretofore has arisen largely from the impossibility of applying remedies to these cavities and chambers by any of the ordinary methods. This obstacle in the way of effecting cures is entirely overcome by the invention of the Douche. In using this instrument, the fluid is carried by its own weight; no snuffing, forcing or pumping being required,) up one nostril in a full gently flowing stream to the highest portion of the nasal passages, passes into and thoroughly cleanses all the sores and chambers connected therewith, and flows out of the opposite nostril. Its use is pleasant and so simple that a child can understand it. Full and explicit directions accompany each instrument. When used with this instrument Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy cures recent attacks of "Cold in the Head" by a few applications. Symptoms of Catarrh. Frequent headache, discharge falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, thick mucus, purulent, offensive, &c. In others a dryness, dry, watery, weak or inflamed eyes, stopping up or obstruction of nasal passages, ringing in ears, deafness, hawking and coughing to clear throat, ulcerations, scabs from ulcers, voice altered, nasal twang, offensive breath, impaired or total deprivation of sense of smell and taste, dizziness, mental depression, loss of appetite, indigestion, enlarged tonsils, tickling cough, &c. Only a few of these symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time.

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, when used with Dr. Pierce's Nasal Douche, and prescribed with the constitutional treatment which is recommended in the pamphlet that wraps each bottle of the Remedy, is a perfect specific for this loathsome disease, and the proprietor offers, in good faith, $500 reward for a case he can not cure. The Remedy is mild and pleasant to use, containing no strong or caustic drugs or poisons. The Catarrh Remedy is sold at 50 cents. Douche at 50 cents, by all Druggists, or the two will be mailed by proprietor on receipt of 80 cents.

THE QUEEN

THE AMERICAN

BUTTON-HOLE OVERSEAMING

AND COMPLETE SEWING MACHINE.

The first and only BUTTON-HOLE AND SEWING MACHINE combined that has made its advent in this or any other country.

The following reasons are given why this is the best.

Family Machine to Purchase.

1. Because it will do everything that any machine can do, sewing from the finest to the coarsest material, hemming, felling, cording, braiding, binding gathering and sewing on, at the same time ruffling, quilting, etc., better than any other machine.

2. Because it can work a beautiful button-hole, making as fine a pearl as by the hand.

3. Because it will embroider over the edge, making a neat and beautiful border on any garment.

4. Because it will work a beautiful eyelet hole.

5. Because it can do over-hand seaming, by which sheets, pillow cases and the like are sewed over and over.

6. Because the best mechanics pronounce it the best finished and made on the best principle of any machine manufactured.—It has no springs to break; nothing to get out of order.

7. Because it is two machines in one, A BUTTON-HOLE WORKING and SEWING MACHINE combined.

No other Machine can accomplish the kind of sewing stated in Nos. 2, 3, 4, and 5.

Parties using a family sewing machine want a WHOLE MACHINE, one with all the improvements.

It is to last a LIFETIME, and therefore one is wanted that will do the most work, and do it the best: and this machine can do several kinds of sewing not done on ANY OTHER MACHINE, besides doing every kind that all others can do

The American or Plain Sewing Machine.

(Without the button-hole parts), does all that is done on the Combination except button-hole and over-seaming.
